Jamie's struggles at school Date: _____

Read the case study and answer the questions.

Jamie is a 13-year-old student who recently transferred to a new school. Jamie enjoys drawing and often spends time alone sketching during recess. Some of Jamie's classmates noticed this and started calling Jamie names like "weirdo" and "loser." Over time, the teasing escalated to students tripping Jamie in the hallway and spreading rumors online.

At home, Jamie's parents are going through a difficult divorce, which has left little time for them to notice Jamie's struggles. Jamie hasn't told anyone about the bullying because they feel like no one would listen or help.

Jamie's teacher noticed that Jamie has become quieter and less engaged in class. However, the teacher hasn't spoken to Jamie directly or addressed the situation with the class.
