

Will you marry me? story - Future forms

Read the "Will you marry me? Story" and decide if the bold sentences are predictions, intentions or arrangements (future plans).

Let's say Billy wants to marry Ivana.

He comes to her and asks her if 1) she will marry him. Because he is NOT sure what she will respond he asks with WILL: 2) "Will you marry me?"

She is delighted and responds "Yes, 3) I'll marry you!"

He goes home and knowing that she accepted and surer that it will happen he tells his father with the GOING TO "Dad, me and Ivana, 4) we are going to get married!"

Arrangements begin and Billy calls his best friend and tells him when and where: "John, 5) me and Ivana are getting married on November 3rd!" and again asks an insecure question 6) "Will you be my best man?"

Predictions (will)

Intention (be going to + verb)

Arrangement (present continuous [verb to be + verb + ing])

Will you marry me? story - Future forms

Read the "Will you marry me? Story" and decide if the bold sentences are predictions, intentions or arrangements (future plans).

Let's say Billy wants to marry Ivana.

He comes to her and asks her if 1) she will marry him. Because he is NOT sure what she will respond he asks with WILL: 2) "Will you marry me?"

She is delighted and responds "Yes, 3) I'll marry you!"

He goes home and knowing that she accepted and surer that it will happen he tells his father with the GOING TO "Dad, me and Ivana, 4) we are going to get married!"

Arrangements begin and Billy calls his best friend and tells him when and where: "John, 5) me and Ivana are getting married on November 3rd!" and again asks an insecure question 6) "Will you be my best man?"

Predictions (will)

Intention (be going to + verb)

Arrangement (present continuous [verb to be + verb + ing])
